ELKS TAKE NOTICE.

Everything is ready for tomorrow evening at 8:45 o'clock sharp, at the home of 1062. Nothing has been left undone by the committee in charge to make this gathering the most patriotic and entertaining affair of the year. The program is one that will satisfy the most fastidious, from the first number until the renowned caterer finishes dispensing the latest "Hoover menu." Don't wait and come with the bread line, but be on hand when Young's orchestra plays "The American Patrol."

"SIGNIFICANCE OF SERVICE FLAG"

The students of the Tonopah High school were favored this morning with a very interesting and instructive address on patriotism and the significance of the service flag by Frank P. Dunn. Mr. Dunn impressed upon the students the necessity of unwavering patriotism and concerted service to the cause at this time by every man, woman and child, in order to bring about an early victory and thereby further the cause of world democracy.

Mr. Dunn's remarks, in part, were as follows: "I fully realize that there are none more loyal or patriotic than the girls and boys of Tonopah. However, at the present time, it is necessary that every man, woman and child be constantly reminded that our liberties are at stake and that our services are needed."

"The United States is at war. The simple announcement tells the duty of the hour incumbent upon each and every American. We must prove to ourselves and to others that we are what we believed ourselves to be, what we said we were—patriots in very truth, capable of fulfilling all the obligations, bearing all the burdens implied in the sublime word, 'patriotism.'"

"Women and children, as well as men, must work for America, supplying her varied needs with overflowing abundance, by word, by deed of one kind or another, creating and fostering unanimity of action; the enthusiasm of sentiment so necessary that all things go well with the Stars and Stripes, wherever they float, wherever they travel."

"The privileged ones are those to whom circumstances and conditions permit that they be soldiers in the army or navy, and in memory of them there has been born a new kind of flag, called the 'service flag.' It is a monument and a proclamation of pride—a monument to their loyalty and patriotism, a proclamation of pride that these men were given to Uncle Sam and he gave them to the world."

MASON DEDICATE THEIR NEW HOME

More than thirty Masons and members of the Eastern Star of Tonopah visited Goldfield last night to attend the dedication of the new home purchased by Montezuma lodge. First on the program, at 8 o'clock, was a delightful dinner. Then came the work of the order, after which the Eastern Star ladies were admitted. Thomas Lindsay, grand master of the order, made a beautiful address on "The Flag." Ivan Arnold, past master of the Tonopah lodge, made brief remarks, after which an address was made by Walter Pratt, deputy grand master, in which he acquitted himself most creditably. This address was to have been made by H. H. Atkinson, but he was unable to be present on account of illness in the family.

COLLECT PAPER AND TWINE FOR TRENCHES

TRENCH CANDLES BEING MADE FOR OUR BOYS AT THE BATTLE FRONT.

The National Surgical Dressings committee urgently requests that every one save old newspapers most carefully. When you have a fair sized stack call up the organization's headquarters and someone will call and get them. These will be used for trench candles. Or if you wish to make the trench candles yourself, instructors in the simple art of making them will be sent wherever their services are wanted. If the makers desire to do so they may turn in the finished candles to this organization, which will see that they are shipped to their destination.

Do not save newspapers with a glazed surface, as they do not absorb the paraffine properly. String should also be saved and rolled in balls for tying the ends.

CASE NEARING END.

The trial of the White Caps-Morning Glory apex case is nearing an end. After completing the settling of instructions to the jury, the latter were summoned into court this morning for argument of the case. It was stipulated that each side should have four hours for argument. Attorney H. R. Cooke, for the plaintiff, began speaking this morning at 11:30, after Judge Averill had instructed the jury.

The case will go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

FOOD SALE SATURDAY.

At the Woman's club food sale on Saturday there will be a number of especially delicious things made by the girls of the domestic science class, among them being mock angel food cake. The club will pay for all material used and the advantage will be mutual, since in this way the girls are enabled to take a practical part in the life of the community without cost to the school.

Wonderful progress in the art of cooking is being made by the girls. Their work will be on exhibition at the T. & G. market Saturday morning.

APPOINTMENT MADE.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Mark Requa, chief of the oil division of the fuel administration, today appointed T. A. O'Donnell of Los Angeles, Cal., to take charge of oil production.

TRAWLER SUNK.

(By Associated Press.) LONDON, Feb. 15.—A British trawler, with seven "drifters," while hunting submarines, was sunk by enemy destroyers in the Straits of Dover.

TRENCH CANDLE PARTY SOCIAL AND HELPFUL

THE MEN DID THE WORK. DID THE WORK, DID THE WORK.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Horton entertained a few friends on a recent evening at a trench candle party. Through the kindness of local editors, old newspapers had been cut in three-inch strips and the men present employed their time in rolling sixteen of these strips into very tight rolls and tying them at each end with string. These were then thrown into a kettle of hot paraffine and boiled for thirty minutes. The finished product is the trench candle we are all hearing so much about just now.

After the men had finished work a candle was lighted in order to see what it would do. It burned thirty minutes with a clear, steady flame and with practically no smoke nor odor. The light given off is about ten candlepower and the amount of heat available is remarkable. No wonder the soldiers speak of them gratefully in their letters home. One can readily see the comfort they would bring to the cold, dark dug-outs of the trenches.

The ladies spent an enjoyable evening making cupcovers for the hospitals. Fifteen of these useful little articles were finished. The men made two hundred trench candles.

At 11 o'clock a supper was served that was thoroughly appreciated, judging from the compliments with which the hostess was showered, and which at the same time was all that Mr. Hoover himself could have wished for in the way of simplicity.

DRAGNET OUT FOR ALL ALIENS NOT REPORTING

VIOLATORS OF ORDER WILL BE GIVEN EXTREME PENALTY WHEN CAUGHT.

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—A nationwide dragnet is being spread by A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, to locate enemy aliens who, through ignorance of the law or malicious intent, fail to make report of their property holdings to his office.

In a statement calling on loyal Americans to assist the government in apprehending violators of the law, Mr. Palmer gave warning that federal agents are searching the country from coast to coast for outstanding alien property and that holders of uncovered property are liable to fine of $10,000 or ten years' imprisonment, or both. Full notice has been given and the time for filing reports has been liberally extended, Mr. Palmer says, and the law will be impartially enforced against all its violators.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE.

(By Associated Press.) AMSTERDAM, Feb. 15.—Berlin newspapers say that peace negotiations with Rumania are about to be opened. They say it is assumed that Rumanian delegates arrived at a place agreed upon to discuss extension of the armistice.

NEW PLANS FOR THE ARMY CANTONMENTS

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Uses to which several national army cantonments are now put may be completely changed when they are vacated by troops now under training, as a result of general staff studies of the handling of divisions scheduled for embarkation for Europe and of the training of replacement troops.

Under the plan the whole system of divisional depot brigades to handle replacement troops would be abandoned. Instead a full division, each of infantry and artillery, provisionally organized for training purposes, would be assembled at two cantonments and all drafts of men to fill gaps in regiments at the front would go forward from these two central depots. Similar replacement forces for all signal corps troops, except the aviation service, would be organized at another cantonment. A replacement cantonment for the engineers is now being constructed at Vevrier, Va.

As to the embarkment arrangement, it has been decided that two additional embarkment camps must be provided. Camps Dix and Lee may be selected for this purpose. Under present embarkment arrangements, an outbreak of disease at the concentration camps to which troops are sent before they go abroad might result in quarantine and a complete tie-up of the flow of men to France. With two additional camps available, there would be little likelihood of such a difficulty.

In addition, troops will be held longer at the embarkment camps and while there, old uniforms and equipment could be taken up and replaced by the outfits to be used in France, saving the issue departments in Europe that work.

Creation of replacement divisions for line troops would overcome one of the chief obstacles to training national army officers have encountered. The transfer of national army troops from present depot brigades to regular divisions and the withdrawal of many men fitted for assignment to technical units for which General Pershing has called has greatly hampered training. In some cases the enlisted personnel of national army units has changed completely two or three times within the last few months.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE BUTLER.

"The Tenderfoot," with William Duncan and Carol Holloway, is the story of the young man who came west because the eastern girl would not return his love. She also comes west and he shows his worth by saving her life and her reputation; but she is incapable of appreciating his honest devotion. Meantime, a true western girl has come into his life. He admires and she secretly loves him. The eastern girl, through a flirtation with Wolfville's bad man, embroils the tenderfoot and he must sneek from town or remain and fight, with the odds pointing to his certain death. He stays and wins. Two scenes stand out in "The Tenderfoot." The eastern girl, to arouse jealousy of the tenderfoot, invites the attention of the young Indian brave and he, scheming to win her, sends ponies to the white folks' camp. Innocent of the Indian custom, she accepts them, and thus is bound to marry the red man. In her hysteria of fear she appeals to the tenderfoot to save her, promising to marry him if he will. The tenderfoot goes out alone and kills the Indian in a rifle duel, only to be again put aside by the girl. In the closing scene is a Wolfville saloon, in which the bad man sits with the western girl waiting for the tenderfoot to come in so he can kill him. By pretending an affection for him, the western girl fills him with liquor and exchanges the cartridges in his revolver for harmless charges. Knowing nothing of this, the tenderfoot enters and, unscathed by the first shots, closes in on the bad man and drives him from town. And as the western girl is confiding to the tenderfoot what she did because she loved him, her rival is riding away from Wolfville into the East.

Tomorrow, Francis Bushman and Beverly Bayne, in "The Adopted Son."
